@redgoldblood

It's going to be a busy weekend at Hutt Park.

Our W League team take on league leaders Upper Hutt on Hutt Park 2, and in the early game on Hutt Park 2, our Capital 1 second team have a juicy derby against our friends from across the river - Petone.

Our Men's Central league team take on league leaders Wairarapa United on Hutt Park 1 and it would be remiss to ignore the gold card team of the club - The Reds in their Masters 3 match against Stokes Valley.

On Sunday, over fifty 7th, 8th and 11th grade junior teams will descend on Hutt Park for the Annual Wynton Rufer. It's the second weekend of the tournament after 9th and 10th grade clubs battled it out last weekend.

The Wynton Rufer tournament is widely recognised as the largest and best run junior tournament in the region and continues to grow and improve year on year.

For over 25 years the tournament has promoted enjoyment, involvement and importantly been accessible for players of all abilities. Over 100 teams entering each year is testament to the success of the tournament.

Today is also Old Timer's day and we welcome Mayor Ray Wallace for the unveiling of our new honours board celebrating our international representatives. Each player or family will also receive a personalised memento of the achievement. Ray is also the club's patron, along with Wynton Rufer, and his father Bobby played for the Masters Blacks in his twilight years - so there are always strong family ties to celebrate at Stop Out.

As we move towards our centenary in 2019 it is evident that our 'club spirit' is alive and well at Stop Out, and our community engagement is second to none.

Enjoy the football and our Stop Out hospitality.

Stop Out vs Victoria University Raiders - Hutt Park

The 4ths welcomed the Victoria University Raiders to the hallowed turf of Hutt Park 2 on a fairly blustery Saturday afternoon.

With a couple of late withdrawals, we were left with a slightly undermanned 12 man squad, including a couple of key players absent.

After electing to play with the win in the first half, we were guilty of not playing to the conditions, trying to play long and often over the top, rather than keeping the ball on the deck which is a particular strength of our group.

We went in to the break 1-0 nil after conceding a lucky goal (with more than a touch of offside about it).

Coming back out for the second half with a determination to keep the ball on the deck, we started in a more controlled fashion despite the wind really ramping up in intensity.

A well crafted team move led to an equalizer midway through the half, despite the opposition dominating territory and possession. Unfortunately, we were unable to back up our hard work, conceding late on to suffer a 2-1 defeat.

Not our best performance of the season, but plenty of determination shown, as well as some lessons learnt about playing to conditions.

Final Score: Stop Out 1 vs Victoria University Raiders 2

ANOTHER MILESTONE WILL BE REACHED THIS WEEKEND

Brooke Mildenhall, close friend of Scott Henderson, will play her 150th Women's football game for the club.

One of the originals from the 2008 season when football was reintroduced to the Stop Out club Brooke has soldiered on over the past ten seasons through fair and foul weather to record a significant achievement.

Hugely popular among the whole Women's playing group and still being in her mid twenties - there seems little doubt that Brooke will continue on to her double ton.

CONGRATULATIONS

TYLER HUDIG

Stop Out player Tyler Hudig has been selected from the FC Barcelona Camp in Wellington to go to FCBEscola in Barcelona for two extra weeks of training later this year.

Congratulations Tyler! What an awesome opportunity.

WINTER IS HERE ON WEEKEND OF RESILIENCE

Another week of U17 football saw our resources stretched and resilience tested on a weekend that well and truly announced the arrival of winter. With the club's annual Wynton Rufer Tournament being hosted at Hutt Park, only our First team were able to play at home, while our Reserves and Reds were forced to play 'home' games at Fraser Park. Kieran Mouton and Jordan Duff stepped in to take the reigns of the Reserve team for the ill Alistair Yates, while the Kane Krebs coached Golds faced a trip out to Maidstone Park.

Our Gold side had a somewhat disrupted build up to their matchup against Upper Hutt Development, as car troubles meant the coach (and the required gear) turned up just before kick off! The lads didn't let the disruption affect them as they eased into the flow of the game superbly. It was an evenly fought match, with the opposition catching us on the break to race out to a 0-3 lead. Joe Baty got his name on the scoresheet after a goalmouth scramble, before Upper Hutt restored their three goal advantage. Man of the Match Jackson Nevin showed his quality with a well taken strike, following up with a calm finish at the far post off the back of some good work from James Winter. A final score of 6-3 to the hosts, yet plenty of positives to take away from the game for a great group of lads. We're seeing a strong increase in performances from the boys, which is all we can ask for!

Our Red side had a tough encounter against a strong Miramar Rangers A side. It is of great benefit to the U17 landscape to see one of the leading clubs in the region finally represented at this level, albeit in a lower division. In difficult conditions, a slow start to the game saw the boys heading into the break down 0-4, and an opportunity to regroup and reassess for Darren Butter's charges. A strong second half showing saw Man of the Match Jahkaya Atkinson get onto the scoresheet with a well taken strike. It was a completely different story in the second spell, with the boys controlling large parts of the game. Lyndon Murray excelled once again marshalling the back four, while Johannes Park was his usual energetic self. A final score of 5-1 to the 'Mar, with two very contrasting halves of football.

Our Reserve side faced off against Island Bay United over the stopbank at Fraser Park. The Sharks' A side were pushing the top of the table coming into the game so we knew we would be in for a tough game. We once again started strongly, controlling the opening stages with our now usual standard of free flowing attacking football. Coach Mouton reported that our boys played some sensational football, which was particularly pleasing for the usual bed ridden coach! A final score of 6-3 to the visitors, in another example of the scoreline not being a fair reflection of the game. Jack Wilson deserves particular praise for notching a treble, but Daniel Langdon stood out as Man of the Match in another strong performance. On reflection after the game, we're more than satisfied with how this team are tracking. We're playing a good brand of football that we continue to build on; results only come secondary during this key development stage of football.

The First team welcomed Waterside Karori to a windswept Hutt Park. The boys were keen to add to last weekend's derby day win and really string together a strong run of form. This was evident right from the beginning in a keenly contested contest, which saw Max Odgers steal the ball off his defender to put us up 1-0. A dominant first half display saw Diego Rodriguez step up to a free kick on the edge of the box - he drove it underneath the wall to put us up 2-0 at the break. To their credit, the 'Swifts' came out firing in the second half, scoring two quick goals to bring the match level. Our boys showed great character to settle back into the flow of the game, slowly exerting their dominance back onto the visitors. This was rewarded as Jack Antonopoulos stole in to notch yet another goal and put us up for a 3-2 win. Callum Brooker back up a strong showing for the Men's Reserves on Saturday with a commanding performance, while Li Parmenter showed his quality once again. Mikey Meyer made his first appearance coming back from injury with a cameo off the bench, as Ryan Brydges continued to show his immense promise in a Man of the Match display. Three wins in a row for the boys; just reward off the back of some incredibly hard work.

This weekend was the first time that this author was not present at one of our U17 games. Illness kept me away, but I could not be prouder of the way the programme continued to run in my absence. What we have done this weekend has shown another level to the strength of our programme. The people who stepped in this week to help deserve immense praise, but it is also important to praise the players for stepping up and adding resilience to their extensive list of characteristics. It is vitally important to note that our programme is run on a volunteer basis; everyone who is a part of it are involved because they see value in it and love their football club.

We continue to grow.

#stopoutmental

On Sunday 21 May, the Women's Blacks headed out to Boyd Wilson Park to take on Victoria University. Fortunately, the freezing weather had left the capital by the 1.00pm kick off and the sun was shining.

After a lot of attacking play we were awarded a penalty when their keeper took out our player. Nicola Bowden slotted the ball into the back of the net with a controlled shot along the ground, that landed in the left-hand corner of the goal.

1 nil up we knew how important it was to defend our lead. With a lot of hard work from the back four we managed to keep them scoreless going into half time.

The second half was evenly contested. Gio managed to slip one past the keeper, but was quickly ruled off side by the ref. This didn't affect the final result, as we came out with a 1 nil win, which put us 4th on the table at the end of round one.

There is one other person I need to acknowledge in my match report and that is Mike Etridge. He has kindly given up his time to coach us this season.

Final Score: Women's Division 2 Black 1 vs Victoria University 0

THE KILLER INSTINCT

Mowing the lawn and killer instinct don't, as a rule, go together. However, today as I tormented the neighbourhood with that quintessential sound of suburbia, the motor mower, one of my neighbours came down to lament the lack of 'killer instinct' in the football he has seen this season. As you do, I nodded wisely and agreed with him when he mentioned a match, that both of us had been to over the Easter weekend, that had seen little of the 'killer instinct'. As he left I started to wonder about the cliché that is 'killer instinct' and its use in the sporting sense.

Mostly, in football, I tend to think of it as relating to goalscorers. Particularly those that get one sniff of a chance in ninety minutes and, bang, the net bulges. Except when they play for your side they seem capable of rubbing people up the wrong way. After all there is the ace striker, the one with a two goal a game average, the one you have five of your team marking, the one you were sure you kidnapped before the whistle and were confident was locked away in some store room... tucking away the game's only half chance with no time for your side to recover, it is kind of easy to see how that might apply in that case. However, my neighbour was talking in team, not individual, terms. At a guess that is more about one of two things. Firstly, a team defending well and having someone take the odd chance that turns up. Secondly, a team taking control of the match and not letting go.

That latter one for me is the tough one. Just how do you create the motivational mindset that means a side maintains its intensity for the entire match even when they are streets ahead of another side? Years ago I watched a National League match which was tremendously one-sided. Final score being about five nil. With about five minutes to go the leading side conceded a corner and I thought the defenders were about ready to come to blows. They were home and hosed and yet they were conceding nothing. Is that killer instinct?

The value of the goalscorer with the killer instinct probably cannot be overstated. Even a half decent team can look decent if they have that body upfront who can make something out of nothing. Here I am not thinking of the player who can hold up the ball and allow others to come into the game. I am thinking of the one who can take the chance. Like the striker I saw arrive by taxi ten minutes from, yes, the final whistle. She ran to the coach and simply said 'get me on'. He did. Almost straight away her side got a free kick on the edge of the box. Only one person was taking it, the latecomer, and in it went. Ruthless and determined. The killer instinct.
